

Annabel Crabb

Annabel Crabb is an ABC writer and presenter who has written extensively about politics and gender. She is the author of bestseller The Wife Drought and of last year's Men At Work; Australia's Parenthood Trap. She is a Walkley-award-winning journalist and has served as political correspondent for several titles, and for the ABC wrote and presented the long-running Kitchen Cabinet series and the parliamentary series The House, With Annabel Crabb. She has spent much of the past year researching, writing and filming the forthcoming ABC series Ms Represented, which marks the centenary of women in Australian parliaments. In her spare time, Annabel - with colleague and friend Leigh Sales - hosts the popular podcast Chat 10, Looks 3.